Overview

The Department of Social and Behavioral Sciences is home to the Psychology Program at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff. The Psychology Program provides a curriculum designed to develop a broad foundation of knowledge in the discipline of psychology and to equip students for pursuing careers in a variety of fields, such as mental health, drug/alcohol counseling, community/social services, business, advertising, marketing, and education. Students who major in psychology take a common core of courses to attain a comprehensive knowledge base of the discipline, an understanding of research methods used by psychologists, and hands-on research experience. Thus, an undergraduate degree from our program provides an excellent foundation for graduate study.

Objectives

- To provide students with a strong knowledge base of psychology's key concepts, principles, overarching themes, and applications
- To engage students in scientific reasoning to interpret, design, and conduct ethical psychological research
- To foster an appreciation for human diversity
- To create an atmosphere of professional development in order to prepare students for graduate school and the workforce

Courses

We offer a variety of interesting and exciting psychology courses. For example, our courses include Health Psychology, Social Psychology, Psychology and Law, Psychology of Learning, Lifespan Developmental Psychology, and Physiological Psychology.

Faculty

The psychology faculty at the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff are extremely supportive and dedicated to your success. You will have an academic advisor working with you during your time here at UAPB, who will help you develop a degree path to ensure your success and timely graduation. We will also prepare you for your life beyond graduation with career preparation and graduate school preparation.

Student-Centered Research

Our program is dedicated to student-centered research. Students have several opportunities to gain practical, hands-on research experience. In particular, our program houses the Human Psychophysiology Laboratory, a teaching lab equipped with state-of-the-art recording equipment. This lab is a student-centered workplace where undergraduates are trained in the measurement and analysis of the physiological underpinnings of emotional and mental processes.

Campus

UAPB is a small and friendly student-focused campus. You can be sure you will not be one of the crowd here. Your professors will know you by name, which means you can really develop a relationship and have room to grow as a scholar.

Psi Chi

We have an active chapter in Psi Chi, the International Honors Society in Psychology for those who are top academic achievers. This international recognition is an impressive honor that can be noted on employment applications, curriculum vitae, and resumes.

Psychology Club

Our psychology club is very active. Students in this club benefit from tutoring and study groups for psychology courses, learn about careers in psychology and what to do after graduation, learn about preparing for graduate school, and are involved in a variety of community service activities.
